2009 World Rowing Junior Championships Highlights
For the second consecutive year, the junior women's eight took home the gold, defeating New Zealand by more than four seconds at the 2009 World Rowing Junior Championships in Brive-la-Gaillarde, France. The U.S. crossed the finish line first in a 6:26.89, New Zealand followed in a 6:31.19, while bronze went to Germany in a 6:34.97. The U.S. crew consisted of Chelsea Lucas (Greenbrae, Calif.), Kelly Bauer (Orinda, Calif.), Kristin Wentzel (San Anselmo, Calif.), Michelle Pearson (Pembroke, Bermuda), Louise Breen (North Hampton, N.H.), Rebeca Felix (San Marino, Calif.), Brandy Herald (Portland, Ore.), Molly Hamrick (Tampa, Fla.) and Elisabeth Murray (Tampa, Fla.).

In the junior men's single sculls, Matthew Maddamma (Pittsburgh, Pa.) put on a historic performance of his own. Maddamma just missed the medal stand, finishing fourth to record the best finish for a U.S. men's single sculler at the World Rowing Junior Championships since Erik Moser took fourth in 1991. Germany's Felix Bach won gold in a 7:03.07, while Kamil Zajkowski of Poland took silver in a 7:03.52. Wanjie Yuan of China edged out Maddamma by 0.18 seconds for the bronze medal.

In the junior men's eight, the U.S. missed the medal stand by 0.12 seconds, finishing fourth in a 5:46.82. Italy took the bronze medal in a 5:46.70, while Germany won gold in a 5:43.62 and Great Britain took silver in a 5:44.65. The U.S.'s crew consisted of Dylan Fish (Saratoga, Calif.), Alexander Bunkers (Maitland, Fla.), Preston Sandbakken (Folsom, Calif.), Brian Wettach (Wakefield, Mass.), Austin Hack (Old-Lyme, Conn.), Whitney Blodgett (Stanfordville, N.Y.), Patrick McGlone (Newton Square, Pa.), Jason Kopelman (Winnetka, Ill.) and Alex Taaffe (Sarasota, Fla.).

The U.S. also reached the final in the women's four and women's pair, finishing sixth in both events.
