

INTERCOLLEGIATE ROWING ASSOCIATION BYLAWS

FOREWORD

In order that the reader may better understand the relationship between the IRA Bylaws and the NCAA Regulations, this background material is offered for consideration.

The IRA and the NCAA are both athletic associations whose members are collegiate institutions. They are separate and distinct organizations, each with its own Constitution, Bylaws and operating procedures. However, the IRA, as an Association, is allied philosophically with the NCAA as its individual members are also active members of the NCAA.

Although the IRA and the NCAA are separate organizations, they have similar purposes. As a result, the rules of eligibility enacted by both organizations are essentially the same.

IRA eligibility rules are all essentially contained in these Bylaws. The rules and regulations of the NCAA constitute a base for IRA eligibility requirements. There may be some instances, however, when an eligibility rule adopted by the IRA will be different from that of the NCAA. Wherever IRA eligibility rules and regulations are exactly the same as those of the NCAA, they have been included in these Bylaws by reference only, under Article Three of the Bylaws, and are not reprinted herein. However, any IRA eligibility rule which is different from that of the NCAA has been compiled in a separate document, as an addendum to these Bylaws, and referred to as "IRA Eligibility Regulations."

The IRA assumes no responsibility for the mistaken violation of any NCAA regulation by any member who relies solely on this manual for the discharge of its responsibilities as an NCAA member. However, the office of the IRA Commissioner will, as always, be ready and willing to lend whatever help it can to members in need of assistance.

PURPOSE

The purpose of these Bylaws shall be to regulate intercollegiate competition as engaged in by the designated rowing teams of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association (IRA or the Association as the context dictates) member institutions and by the representatives of those institutions in such a manner as to preserve the amateur spirit of that competition as defined in the Constitution of the IRA.

Article Two

SCOPE

The scope of these Bylaws shall include all forms of intercollegiate athletics competition engaged in by the designated rowing teams of member institutions of the IRA.

NOTE: Definition of Terms “Intercollegiate Rowing” and “Competition:” A student engages in intercollegiate competition within the meaning of the term adopted by the Association for eligibility purposes when competing in any contest, scrimmage, regularly scheduled, exhibition or postseason game on any IRA designated rowing team authorized by the student’s collegiate institution to represent it in intercollegiate athletics competition against any team composed of students or individuals of any other collegiate institution or organization.

A. CONTENTS AND FILING

The president of each member institution shall file, annually, with the office of the IRA Commissioner an "IRA Declaration of Principles," indicating those teams authorized to represent it in intercollegiate rowing competition as defined in Article Two of these Bylaws. Section VI. Amendments

Proposed amendments to the Bylaws must be received by the IRA Commissioner per a schedule adopted by the Association for the ensuing academic year. Provided there is a quorum, adoption requires a majority vote of those voting members in attendance. If no schedule is adopted by the Association, the previous year's schedule shall be followed. Amendments shall become effective when adopted by a majority vote of those voting at the meeting, provided those present constitute more than half of the membership. (Revised June 1, 2012)
